Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Full Stack Developer role at Acme Corp. With a background in software development and experience working on web and backend applications, I'm confident in my ability to contribute meaningfully to your team and help drive innovative, user-centered technology solutions.

At Tech Solutions Inc, I've worked on developing internal tools that improved productivity by 30%, leveraging technologies such as React, Node.js, and PostgreSQL to build scalable and maintainable solutions. My approach combines technical precision with a strong focus on user needs and collaboration.

I'm particularly drawn to Acme Corp's commitment to innovation and continuous learning, and I admire how your team embraces new ideas and supports professional growth.

I'm excited about the opportunity to grow professionally while contributing to high-impact projects.

Thank you for considering my application. I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and enthusiasm can support the goals of your team.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe
